Dr. Sam Hawthorne, a New England country doctor in the first half of the twentieth century, was constantly faced by murders in locked rooms and impossible disappearances. Nothing Is Impossible contains fifteen of Dr. Sam's most extraordinary cases solved between 1932 and 1936, including a circus acrobat who vanishes from a trapeze; an invisible weapon; murder in a cabin surrounded by unmarked snow; murder in a locked house surrounded by an electrified fence; the attack on a ventriloquist's dummy; a haunted teepee; the vanishing of a teenage girl from her blue bicycle; and eight other ingenious problems for Dr. Sam. The introduction is by Janet Hutchings, editor of Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine.

Edward Hoch was one of the greatest mystery writers

By PAUL NESTEROWICZ

Edward Hoch was one of the greatest mystery writers. This does not disappoint. The only problem you don't realize you have read all the stories. Concise and captivating stories!

Sam Hawthorne is Hoch's best in my

By John A. Southard

Ed Hoch is the master of the short detective story. Dr. Sam Hawthorne, an old retired doctor, describes in 1920s in a small New England town, where impossible murders take place. Think Cabot Cove except the murders take place in locked rooms or other impossible circumstances. Of the half dozen series written for Ellery Queen's Mystery Magazine and other publications, Dr. Sam Hawthorne is Hoch's best in my estimation

Love locked room mysteries and Hock is a master

By Leyla

Really enjoy this, love to read more but very few available on kindle. They really offer a puzzle which in a short story gives quick entertainment. More please.
